Finds Purse of Victim

Mr. Michael Genick of Malden road, Sandwich West Township, searching through debris in the tornado-ripped area not far from his spared home, yesterday found the pocketbook belonging to Mrs. John Nelson Jones, whose life was lost, along with three of her children, when the tornado struck last Monday night. The purse and seven ration books it held are shown above in the hands of Mr. Genick. They were uncovered in a muddy field more than two and one-half miles from the destroyed Jones residence, and turned over to Canadian Red Cross officials.

Wind Carried Sheet Metal To Tilbury

TILBURY—Some comprehension of the velocity of the wind which accompanied Monday night's storm can be gained by the fact that pieces of sheet metal with the Michigan stamp on same, were found deposited on the front lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ludwig of Tilbury. It is believed that they were carried from Sandwich, where the tornado passed after crossing from the American side, or perhaps from River Rouge, Michigan.

Other steel sheets were found on the farm of Earl Morgan of Coatsworth, also on No. 3 Highway. Two and a half feet wide metal strips, 3 x in number, were found by Fred Donald, district resident, and in the Township of Tilbury East, 12-foot strips of metal were discovered.

A basket of clothes was found in a field on the Neil Davidson farm at Quinn. The clothes were neatly folded and had remained unharmed in the basket.

A hymn book, supposedly from a church in the tornado area, was discovered in a field on the farm of George Copeman of Quinn.

Metal roofing, with the River Rouge stamp marked on same had been carried by the wind and picked up in Port Alma yesterday.

Trousers Blown To Belle River

The tornado played strange tricks with people and their belongings on Monday night.

A pair of trousers was found between Belle River and No. 2 Highway today by Mrs. Walter Durecher, in her garden on C.P.R. road. In the pockets were telegrams and other positive identification that the trousers belonged to Waldo Beeman, who along with his 18-year-old wife, their baby born by Caesarian operation in the hospital, and his twin brother Mils, all were killed by the twister.

The trousers had been carried all the way from Sandwich West Township.

Amazed When Wood Falls From Clouds

One of the most amazed persons, and thankful, too, who witnessed part of the tornado which struck disastrously at whatever was in its path, was W. J. Parsons, 2421 Wyandotte street east.

Mr. Parsons owns a summer cottage two miles east of Belle River. He was sitting in the front yard of his summer home when suddenly shingles and pieces of wood began to fall around him. He looked to the right and left but nothing was falling on the neighbor's grounds—just his.

"I looked up into the sky and saw these things falling from the clouds," Mr. Parsons told The Star. "Talk about pennies from heaven, I didn't know what to make of it. My wife thought it was part of an airplane which may have exploded in midair."

"Of course with the Hydro power off, we didn't know what it really was until we came back to Windsor this morning. I'm very grateful my house wasn't apart of that falling wood."

TORNADO EXPRESS

Khaki painted galvanized roofing came tornado express to Stevenson, 40 miles east of Windsor, and landed outside a home owned by Mrs. James McEwen.

Finds Dollar Around Corn

Jack Terry of Blenheim, Ontario, picked up a corn stalk in his field and around it was wrapped a mud-spattered U. S. $1 bill.

"I feel sure it must have been borne by the wind from the Windsor area after the tornado had wrought its destruction," he writes.

Mr. Terry sent the bill to The Windsor Star Tornado Relief Fund.

Owner Gets Wind-Tossed Victory Bond

Through the agency of The Windsor Star, a $100 Victory Bond lost in the tornado was today returned to its owner. The bond, wet and mud-smearred, was picked up by Raymond Renaud of Tecumseh, in his yard after the wind had passed dangerously close to his home. He turned it over to The Star, to locate the owner, or failing that, to donate it to The Star's Tornado Relief Fund.

The bond was claimed today by Alex Clark on behalf of his father, John Clark of Lawson road, Sandwich East. The Clark home was destroyed by the twister and two $100 bonds were among the property lost. One of these was the one found by Mr. Renaud. Mr. Clark was able to produce a record of the serial number of the bond, proving his ownership.

Savings Certificate Turns Up in Mail

Steve Zaparozon, who lost 24 five-dollar War Saving Certificates when his house was destroyed by the recent tornado, was surprised to-day when one turned up in the mail. It was found in the back yard of William Janisse of Tecumseh.

Mortgage Is Blown To Belle River

One sheet from a mortgage which was among the papers in the Nelson Jones home in Sandwich West Townships when it was destroyed in last Monday's tornado and four members of the family killed, was found yesterday near Belle River.

The mortgage was given in 1943 by Mr. Jones and his wife to a lumber concern. It was found on the property of the Lazy-B Riding Club, one mile this side of Belle River, by Edward Ellis, the proprietor. The sheet of paper, which comprises the title and the notarial attestation is somewhat mudstained but in the main legible. It is being turned over to the Red Cross for Mr. Jones, who is still in a very serious condition in hospital.

Considerable debris from the devastated area, dropped as the tornado began to lose force, was found in the vicinity where the mortgage was picked up and included mattresses and sheets of corrugated iron.

Books Gone With Wind

One of the humorous stories of the tornado was told yesterday at the Red Cross relief centre by Clarence Lammon of Ojibway. Being a lover of books, and having accumulated a small library, he was chagrined to find the twister had not only torn the wall off his library but had scattered his books across the fields. Earlier yesterday he was hunting them and he managed to find one. It was "Gone With the Wind."

Certificates Found

Believed to have been blown afield during the tornado of June 17, a book of National Savings Certificates belonging to Leslie Wheeler, Shrubbery House, Ombersley, Worcestershire, is now at The Windsor Star city desk.

The book was found by an employee of the Essex Hybrid Seed Co. in the neighborhood of Walker Farms and was brought to The Windsor Star in the hope the owner would be found.

Debris Lands At Merlin

MERLIN—Many remnants of tornado wreckage from Windsor and Detroit areas which were seen dropping from the skies at about 6:30 p.m. Monday night, have been found by farmers throughout the district. More than a dozen sheets of khaki-colored corrugated metal, about 10 feet long and three feet wide have been discovered in widely separated fields. Among the other articles were large scraps of paper and metal, many letters addressed to people in Windsor and Michigan, and a fabric auto top.

Merlin is 50 miles from Windsor.

TORNADO CARRIED NOTICE TO MERLIN.

A tax notice addressed to the late NELSON JONES, five of whose family died in the tornado of June 17th., has been picked up in a cornfield near MERLIN.

CLIFTON BROWN, a farmer of the district, was cultivating his corn when the paper came to his attention. It is weather stained but quite legible. He turned it over to OMER PATRICK, 2409 HOWARD AVE., a friend, who brought it to the Star.

The notice has been turned over to the tornado committee at the City Hall and may be claimed by surviving members of the family.

Book Carried To Tilbury By Tornado

A bank book belonging to the Thomas H. Ball family on Huron Line, whose home was destroyed completely in the tornado June 17, was picked up near Tilbury and is now in possession of the family. It was turned into the bank by an unnamed finder.

Besides the loss of their furnishings and home the family also lost $200 in cash, received the afternoon of the twister from the sale of a trailer and a number of Victory Bonds.

Picked up near the bankbook is a photo, obviously one taken many years ago of a man and woman seated at a table. It is typical of the sort found in many family albums. It is not the property of the Ball family and may be had upon identification at the office of the tornado committee in the city hall.

Policy Found

A life insurance policy belonging to Peter Ritchie was found on the farm of Ernest Walker in Tilbury South Township. Mr. Walker gave the latter policy to Constable Hector LeBoeuf at Riverside police headquarters who later turned it over to The Star. There is no address listed on the policy but it is believed that the policy came from the tornado swept area. Mr. Ritchie may obtain the remains of the policy at The Star editorial department.

Cards Carried By Tornado Found at Puce

Identification and registration cards of victims of the tornado continue to turn up in the most unexpected places. Today The Star was in receipt of the border crossing cards of Mrs. Yolanda Puskas and her daughter, Ethel, six years old.

The cards, with birth certificates and registration cards, were in a cellophane case picked up by Mr. Stanley Major of Puce, when he was surveying some land near Puce. Somewhat water-soaked, but still quite legible, the cards will be returned to Mrs. Puskas at the home of relatives on Clemenceau boulevard with whom she and her family are living until they can get a new home.

Their house, in Sandwich West, was demolished by the tornado, Mr. Puskas covering his wife and children in the straw with his own body to save them. Mrs. Puskas was hospitalized for a time, but has recovered.

Comber Farm Accustomed To Odd "Rain"

Frank Buchanan of Comber is growing accustomed to seeing strange objects hurtling out of the sky.

He was not particularly surprised last Sunday afternoon when a small two-seater aircraft bound for Detroit strayed off course and crashed near his farm. Buchanan was the first to reach the wreckage of the plane and helped remove two seriously injured men to safety.

The Comber farmer tells how, when a tornado swirled through the suburbs of Windsor in mid-June, he stood in his doorway and watched several pieces of brown aluminum rain down on his farm. Apparently the cone of the tornado caught up pieces of roofing material and deposited them almost 25 miles away.

Says He Saw Plane Fall In Woods During Tornado

Chrysler Worker Withheld Story

"I saw a plane plunge out of the twister and nose head first into the ground behind a clump of trees in the neighborhood of Pillette road and the Third Concession," J. C. Rupert, 833 London street west, told The Star today.

WITHHELD REPORT

Although it is a week since the tornado struck this district, Mr. Rupert stated he withheld his statement until this time to see if any aircraft had been reported missing following the tornado.

Extensive checkup by authorities during the past week has not brought to light any information of airplanes being missing from either Canadian or United States air bases or flying fields.

Mr. Rupert is a plant protection officer at the Chrysler Corporation and was in the lookout tower at the south end of Plant 3 when the twister struck the Walker road area south of the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks.

"I had an excellent chance to follow the course of the twister," he stated. "As I was looking at it some of the men working in the yard below me started to shout and point in the direction of the tornado. They stated they saw a plane twisting around in the huge wind tunnel. As I looked I saw a plane plummet out of the cone and crash nose first into the ground behind some trees."

CAN'T GET EVIDENCE

He added that the strike at the Chrysler plant prevents him from contacting the workmen as witnesses to substantiate his statement.

"When I later heard that someone reported finding an airplane wing I was more convinced than ever that it was a plane which I saw falling," Mr. Rupert added.

"There was no explosion when the plane hit the ground and I did not notice any smoke from that direction. I was up in the tower at the time and had an excellent opportunity to see everything that was going on."

So far police have not searched the area where the plane is reported to have crashed. The district is part farmland and is heavily underbrushed, so that there remains the possibility that a crashed plane could be hidden in the heavy foliage and remain undetected from the nearby roads.

Provincial police, working on skeleton staff until the import of 35 special officers last Friday night to handle the heavy weekend traffic in the damaged areas, have been working full time on tornado area relief and policing.

NO SIGN OF WRECKAGE

Police Believe No Loss Of Plane in Tornado

The presence of two Leaven's Brothers planes flying in the area of the tornado a week last Monday possibly led many residents of the east end of the city to believe they saw a plane being battered to pieces in the twister. Provincial Police here concluded today.

TWO WERE IN AIR

Investigation by officers from the local detachment found that two small aircraft owned by the Leavens company were in the air when the tornado struck in the vicinity of the airport. As soon as the storm struck the planes made an immediate return to the landing field.

"An extensive search of the area was made yesterday by our officers and no description of wreckage could be found," Inspector W. A. Scott told The Star today. "We did determine that two Leaven's Brothers planes were in the air at the time, and it is quite possible for people to connect them with the tornado."

"As yet there has been no wreckage reported in any area, and we have had no report of planes being missing. Therefore, we believe that this conclusion is the more likely one."

SAW IT PLUNGE

Mrs. Jeanne Miller, 1846 Tourangeau road, is the latest person to supply information about a plane in the area of the storm. She stated: "A neighbor girl, Maxine Seiden, and I were watching the tornado together and we both saw the plane at the same time. For a split second it was outlined against the tornado and then plunged toward the earth in a fast spiral."

Police Hunt For Signs Of Plane

Reports Persist One Crashed in Tornado

Provincial police are scouring the area around the Third Concession and Pillette road today following eyewitness reports that an airplane was seen plunging to the ground in that district during the recent tornado.

AREA SEARCHED

Inspector W. A. Scott, head of the local detachment, ordered officers out to make a thorough inspection of the area.

Heavy bushland is located within one half mile of where the tornado caused extensive damage to high tension hydro lines and homes on Walker road, just south of the C.P.R. crossing.

Police say there is the possibility that a plane could have fallen into this heavily wooded area without attracting attention of nearby residents.

"Reports of a missing plane being seen crashing in the tornado area have become too persistent to ignore," Inspector Scott told The Star today. "We are detaching men to the area to make a complete search for any aircraft which might have crashed into some secluded wooded area during the storm. We are also checking on the stories of people who claimed to be eyewitnesses of such a plane crash."

SAYS HE SAW IT

Yesterday J. C. Rupert, 833 London street west, a plant protection officer at Plant 3, Chrysler Corporation, told The Star that he definitely saw a plane crash from a height of 200 to 300 feet into the bush area in the Third Concession-Pillette road district during the tornado.

He stated that he noticed the plane spinning nose first to the ground. It disappeared behind a clump of trees just before it crashed, he said. There was no explosion or fire.

The Star also received a report today that a resident on Lesperance road, south of Tecumseh, found a large piece of aluminum in his backyard. It is believed to be part of the wing or fuselage of a plane.

Shortly after the tornado struck one week ago Monday night several calls were received by The Star's switchboard that the wing of a plane, presumably a medium U.S. Army bomber, had been found in the George avenue section. Investigation, however, failed to produce the metal wing.

Still Seeking Plane

REPORTS persist that an airplane was caught in the tornado last Monday and that it disintegrated in the air. Some people claim they saw the plane land out near the Chrysler plant.

There were lots of huge pieces of wood and metal flying around. Out in the direction of the Chrysler plant a large piece of metal fell and it could easily have been mistaken for a plane.

No planes have been reported missing, yet many still claim they saw a plane break up. Probably they are sincere in their thinking, but what they really saw was the side of a house or a barn hurtling through the air.

"AS WE SEE IT" BY W. L. CLARK.

1. Debris, mistaken for an airplane, observed falling in the vicinity of Pilette Road and the Third Concession Road. An extensive police search failed to find any evidence of aircraft parts.
2. A $100 Victory Bond belonging to John Clark of Langdon Road, was found by Raymond Renaud in the yard of his Tecumseh home.
3. One of 24 $5 War Saving Certificates lost by Steve Zaparozon was found in the back yard of William Janisse of Tecumseh.
4. Border crossing card and birth certificate of Mrs Yolanda Puskas was found, water-soaked but legible, by Mr. Stanley Major while he was surveying some land near Puce.
6. A pair of trousers belonging to Waldo Beaman (identified by papers in the pockets) was found in the garden of Mrs Walter Durocher, Belle River.
8. One sheet from a mortgage which was among the papers belonging to Nelson Jones was found, ^{mudstained but legible,} on the property of the Day-B Ranch 1.6 km west of Belle River.
Considerable amounts of other debris were also found in the vicinity, including mattresses and sheets of corrugated iron.
7. Shingles and pieces of wood rained down on the cottage property of W. S. Parsons, 3 km east of Belle River.
8. Frank Buchanan of Comber watched several pieces of brown roofing material

9. A life insurance policy belonging to Peter Ritchie was found on the farm of Ernest Walker in Tilbury South Township.

Pieces of

10. Sheet metal, with the Michigan stamp on them, were deposited on the front lawn of the home of Mr and Mrs Charles Sudwig of Tilbury. It is believed they may have originated in River Rouge.

11. A basket of clothes was found in a field on the Neil Davidson farm at Quinn. It was reported that the clothes were still neatly folded and unharmed when found. Sheet metal strips 12 feet long were also found in Tilbury East Township. A hymn book was discovered in a field on the farm of George Cepeman.

12. Sheet metal strips, $2\frac{1}{2}$ feet in width were found by Coatsworth district residents Earl Morgan and Fred Donais.

13. Khaki painted galvanized roofing fell outside a store owned by Mrs James McEwen of Stevenson.

14. More than a dozen sheets of khaki-colored corrugated metal, about 10 ft long and 3 ft wide we found scattered throughout the fields around Merlin. Also found were large scraps of paper and metal and many letters addressed to people in Windsor and Michigan as well as a fabric automobile top.

A tax notice, addressed to Nelson Jones, was found in a cornfield.

15. Metal roofing with the River Rouge, Michigan stamp was found in Port Alma.

16. Jack Terry of Blenheim found a mud splattered U.S. $1 bill wrapped around a cornstalk.
